Kissinger denies memo cover-up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today denied a charge before the House intelligence committee that he is withholding a subpoenaed dissent memorandum on his Cyprus decisions to avoid personal embarrassment.

Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., flatly rejected an offer by Kissinger to provide summaries of dissenting views on Cyprus and any other issue. Pike called the offer ridiculous and said that such statements would be "bland, dissembling and noninformative."

Kissinger went before the committee to explain why he would not turn over the dissent memorandum or let low-level officials testify to Congress on policy.

In an opening statement, Pike said it is his personal belief that information withheld by Kissinger and other officials "has tended to be withheld more out of embarrassment or fear that America will look bad than any other reason."

Kissinger listened attentively and then told the committee: "Let me make one thing clear — there is no concern that the Boyatt memorandum contains anything that will be embarrassing to the administration, the President or the secretary of state."

Thomas Boyatt was head of the State Department's Cyprus desk during the Cyprus crisis last year and sent the dissent memorandum to Kissinger afterwards criticizing U.S. handling of the affair.

Kissinger said he understood the committee was not trying to hurt Boyatt, who wants to testify. "On some reflection," Kissinger said, "I have an idea who the committee is after."

But Kissinger also told the committee: "There is nothing we seek less than a confrontation."

The committee's senior Republican, Rep. Robert P. McClory of Illinois, told the secretary "the best way to solve our problem is to let us have the Boyatt memorandum."

But Kissinger said eight or ten retired senior foreign service officers were unanimous in urging him recently to hold his ground and to "maintain the principle against testimony by lower-ranked employees on their views."

Both Pike and McClory told Kissinger it was their understanding from a meeting with President Ford, at which Kissinger was present, that the administration would cooperate in turning over information to the committee.

But Kissinger told the committee that his release of the memorandum or allowing low-level officials to testify before Congress on policy could help destroy his ability to get sound advice from them for his own crisis and policy decisions.

Franco suffering from peritonitis

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Francisco Franco's doctors reported today that peritonitis has complicated the 82-year-old general's failing condition.

Calling the long-time Spanish leader's condition still grave, the doctors did not say specifically Franco had worsened. Private medical sources said the peritonitis — inflammation of his abdominal membrane — could mean death within hours.

The report of a new complication came as Franco's designated heir, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, began his duties as temporary chief of state.

The prince met with the Spanish cabinet in an unusually long session that lasted four hours. No details were given.

Franco's medical team said the general's critical heart condition continued basically unchanged.

The medical bulletin said fluid in the general's stomach cavity persists and a study of it "deduces the existence of a peritoneal inflammation process" — peritonitis.

Juan Carlos, the tall, blond grandson of Spain's last king, was appointed temporary chief of state late Thursday by Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and his cabinet.

The action was taken to end the vacuum resulting from Franco's inability to put his endorsement on all major government decisions, a power he vested in himself when he wrote the Spanish constitution.

There was no indication that the stricken leader even knew the government had replaced him.

The prince substituted for Franco once before, in 1974, when the old man nearly died from phlebitis.

Panel approves bill despite Ford warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Banking subcommittee today approved a bill offering $7 billion in loan guarantees to fiscally ailing New York City.

After two hours of debate, the economic stabilization subcommittee voted 10 to 6 for the measure that offers the city $2 billion more than was sought by New York Gov. Hugh Carey.

President Ford has vowed to veto any bill to give aid to New York.

Nine Democrats voted for the measure. Two voted against it. Ranking GOP member Stewart B. McKinney of Connecticut was the only Republican to vote for it.

The $7 billion figure, which includes $2 billion in short-term, 11-month securities, was determined by consultation with

New York State officials. A subcommittee lawyer said the higher figure more accurately reflected the state's needs.

Carey's lower request was based on expectations of what he thought Congress would approve, the lawyer said.

The bill now goes to the House Banking Committee. The Senate Banking Committee on Thursday approved a bill authorizing the federal government to guarantee loans of up to $5 billion.

The House measure, if passed by the full committee, is expected to be sent to the House Judiciary Committee and combined with a proposal by Ford to modify federal bankruptcy laws to permit New York City to continue essential services if the city defaults.

Special Section

Nearly 100 festive holiday recipes have been contributed by area cooks for a special holiday cookbook, "Spice Up Your Holidays," to be featured in Sunday's Democrat-Capital.

But that's not all. Special feature stories on a Sedalia pastor who cans his own fruits and vegetables and a pint-sized woman who plans 2,500 lunches daily will also be included.

Let us help "Spice Up Your Holidays." Don't miss this reader special Sunday.

The gunmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns and wearing black ski masks with eerie red eyeholes, have invaded six homes in the past four weeks, raping one teen-ager, smashing the eye glasses of four people and throwing liquid drain cleaner in the face of one woman.

Local gun shops reported a flood of weapons being purchased, and the Lake County Sheriff's office investigated tips on the formation of a vigilante group of up to 150 armed men.

In an effort to calm the residents, state and local police agencies dispatched the 60 officers into the area Thursday night.

"We've got to get these guys before some innocent person is killed," said one worried police official. "But they come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere."

Authorities said they were fairly certain that all six incidents, in which the number of gunmen varied from two to three, were the work of the same persons.

"They all appear to be related," said Coleman. "Some of their actions border on outright sadism. They seem to derive a sadistic pleasure from some of the things they do."

The most recent attacks occurred Tuesday night.

In the first assault, thieves broke into a house about six miles south of this small citrus town, bound five occupants and raped a 19-year-old woman before ransacking the house and fleeing with $85.

Then 20 miles and two hours later, two masked men burst into the home of James Kelly, 70, near Winter Garden, bound Kelly and his wife and two guests and stomped on their eyeglasses.

Two weeks ago, the gunmen burst into the house of Majorie Bray, 52, in west Orange County and poured drain cleaner into her eyes and mouth before escaping with a television set. Doctors first feared she had been blinded, but they said Thursday she would not lose her sight.

Police said the gang has netted several hundred dollars in cash, jewelry and small electrical appliances in its nighttime raids but appears to be motivated by thrills, not money.

"They're ignoring valuable jewelry," said Lake County Chief Deputy Bob Tanner. "They've passed up a color television set, and in some cases they've taken things like frozen foods, meat, pots and pans and a toaster."

"They're just out getting their kicks. They get enjoyment from assaulting these people."

Treats from the heart

Local grocery stores donated sacks of candy so that Mrs. Letha Schooling, 359 West Saline, and her neighbors could give the candy to these costumed children from the Buckner Head Start Center Friday for Halloween. The costumes were made by the children and their teachers at the center so they could have a special Halloween.

Spy plane shot down

U.S. officials deny Soviets held crewmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy patrol plane which vanished more than 25 years ago was on a top secret intelligence mission off Soviet Baltic territory, the Pentagon has disclosed.

U.S. officials also say they have no reason to believe reports that eight of the 10 crewmen were prisoners in Soviet camps.

After the plane and its crew disappeared on April 8, 1950, the U.S. government gave the impression they were on a training flight from Germany to Denmark.

But a Navy investigating board's report shows the four-engine Privateer was engaged in what was called a "special electronic search project mission" approved by the highest-ranking U.S. admiral in the Eastern Atlantic.

The report, which was recently declassified after being kept secret since 1950, lends no support to recent reports that some of the Navy crewmen may have survived and still be alive inside Russia.

Navy officials said there has been "no credible evidence" from that day to this that any of the crew escaped the plane and ended up in Soviet prison camps.

The investigating board — which was able to gather little hard evidence — accepted Russia's official claim that a Soviet fighter shot down the Navy plane.

However, the Navy disputed the Russian version on two key points:

—The Russian government said the U.S. Navy plane opened fire on Soviet aircraft. But the board said the plane was unarmed, except for one .38 caliber revolver normally carried for security when the plane was parked on an airfield.

—The Russians said the Navy plane was intercepted over Soviet land. However, Navy witnesses told the board the plane was under orders to stay at least 20 miles offshore from Soviet territory, and the board said "it is considered most probable" the U.S. aircraft was over the Baltic Sea when attacked.

Navy investigators apparently based their opinion on the recovery of two life rafts and the plane's nose wheel from the sea, although expert witnesses told investigators the Privateer could have strayed over Russian territory if its radar was out of order.

Interest in the mystery was rekindled last week when John Noble, once a prisoner in a Russian labor camp, and private detective Theodore Grevers said they believed at least eight of the 10 Navy crewmen may still be alive.

They cited no first-hand evidence, but quoted other former Soviet prisoners.

Grevers said today that he's not surprised at the Pentagon's disclosure that the plane was on an intelligence flight.

"That's what I've alleged all along," he said.

Grevers said he has "more than circumstantial evidence" that the men are still alive.

He said John Noble and William Marchuk, former Soviet prisoners, talked to the crewmen in Camp Vorkuta in Siberia. The crewmen told Noble and Marchuk they were "fearful they'd never see their homeland again," Grevers said. The men also told Noble and Marchuk the Russian government had informed them the United States had lost interest in getting them back, Grevers said.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Nessen told newsmen that as recently as 1973 U.S. officials had asked the Soviet Union to "provide whatever information it could" about the fate of the fliers.

Nessen said the Soviets replied in January 1974 that the American Navy men could not be found in Russia.

parking garage attendant who disliked Ford.

"I'm trying to protect the President, and they got me," the arrestee said while being hauled away.

Patrolman Lou Sylvestri said, "He's a well known character here, a crackpot."

He said the man, who usually identifies himself as Albert W. Zero, regularly hung around the police department.

"He used to pass out cards saying he was president of Zero Consulting Co. He's got so many aliases it would take at least six months to find his real name," he said.

The stocky man was interrogated for two hours by the Secret Service, then San Francisco police sent him to a hospital for up to 72 hours of psychiatric observation.

The incident shattered what otherwise was a largely trouble-free day for the heavy presidential security forces.

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — A shadow of real Halloween terror hung over the citrus groves around this Central Florida town today in the specter of sadistic gunmen who "come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere," police say.

Despite around-the-clock patrols by 60 officers, police warned parents in rural areas of West Orange and South Lake counties to keep their trick-or-treaters off the streets tonight.

"On Halloween a lot of kids will be out pulling pranks, and with a lot of people this nervous, someone might get hurt," said Orange County Sheriff Mel Coleman.

Bible City to open on Palm Sunday

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — It's Sunday school with thrills, salvation with excitement, Disneyland with religion.

It's Bible City, possibly the ultimate in theme amusement parks.

Bible City, a $20-million venture based on the greatest story ever told is scheduled to open near this southwest Missouri city next April 11 — Palm Sunday.

The creators are a group of promoters from Texas and Oklahoma, who admit their idea evolved in part from the success of Gerald L.K. Smith's Christ of the Ozarks enterprise in Eureka Springs, Ark.

Head of the group is Bill Caywood, 45, who says the park will eventually include more than a dozen attractions with Biblical connections.

"We're going into the theme park business," he says, noting that because the Bible is the world's most widely read book, the list of potential park accessories is virtually endless.

To be ready for the scheduled opening, according to Caywood, will be a plexiglass statue of Christ, six feet taller than Smith's 65-foot replica in Eureka Springs.

The statue is now being constructed in 17 pieces by a Fort Worth, Tex., engineering firm.

Also ready for the April 11 debut, will be a Passion play and a puppet show performing Bible stories for children.

But future attractions will include a small Tower of Babel, a 110-foot Noah's ark with a petting zoo for children, a Gospel wax museum with scored background music, a Gospel art gallery, and camel, elephant and "Jerusalem donkey" rides for children.

There's more. To get into the park, originally called Holy Land USA, visitors will enter through a giant opened Bible, then travel through a "time tunnel" to familiarize them with the Biblical era.

Inside, an indoor shopping mall offering religious items will surround the feet of the Christ statue. For the hungry, there will be a restaurant featuring foods from Biblical times. For the sportsman, a replica of the Sea of Galilee will include fishing expeditions and boat rides.

The adventurous will be able to enter the jaws of a 90-foot fiberglass whale and listen to a guide dressed as Jonah. There will be a replica of Babylon's Hanging Gardens and a reproduction of the Garden of Eden.

And, with acknowledgements to Ben-Hur, there will be a Coliseum featuring chariot races, gladiator fights and pageants.

And, finally, there will be a conception of Heaven with brick walks planted in 24-carat gold.

The 26-acre park, which will be walled like ancient Jerusalem, will be located on a 200-acre plot, but the site has not yet been announced.

Caywood and the other promoters hope to finance most of Bible City through a public drive for contributions and possible bond sales. There will be no admission charge, but visitors will be encouraged to donate at the gate.

Caywood has armed himself with able partners and assistants for the project. Security officer Bob Hargis is a former Dallas policeman and a relative of evangelist Bill Joe Hargis. The park's public relations director, the Rev. Johnnie Hope, formerly worked for the Oral Roberts Evangelistic Association and for evangelist Rex Humbard. One of the board members, Ron White, was an architect for Disneyland.

Net income from Bible City is scheduled to be distributed to sponsoring non-profit organizations, which will give funds to various charities. Two Springfield non-profit groups, Christian Foundation, and United Christian Fund, are also listed as backers of the project, but since their existence have not actually distributed any funds, according to state records.

Bible City has applied for, but not yet received, tax-exempt status from the Internal Revenue Service as a not-for-profit corporation.

The reaction of Springfield residents has been mixed, but mostly favorable, according to promoters.

"The Lord sure is wonderful," said the Rev. John Spence, head of United Christian Fund. "The first time I saw this (plans for the park) I was somewhat elated to see the progress that had been made. Young people will benefit greatly from it. We're very enthusiastic about it."

Unexpected blessing

GODFREY, Ill. (AP) — The scripture says: "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."

And about 300 members of the Alton First Southern Baptist Church got a first-hand example of the passage's meaning at groundbreaking ceremonies for their new church in Godfrey.

Under the direction of Rev. Howard Todd Taylor they gathered Sunday at the 20-acre site of their $400,000 church all armed with shovels. At Rev. Taylor's signal everyone turned a spadeful of earth.

"Look at the potatoes," someone shouted. Rev. Taylor's wife had dug up three herself.

Before the ceremonies were over about a half a peck of potatoes had been unearthed.

The minister later explained the site had been divided up into 52 garden plots for church members this summer. The potatoes apparently hadn't been harvested.

Taxpayers would pay for abortions

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare would be forcing taxpayers to pay for abortions under proposed regulations recently developed by that federal agency, according to Ray S. James, president of the Missouri Citizens for Life.

"HEW is forcing abortion on the people and this is an alarming encroachment upon the conscience of the American taxpayer," James said Thursday in a prepared statement. "The majority of Americans, in fact, as high as 75 per cent, are opposed to the Supreme Court decision which allows for abortion up to and including the time of labor. For this majority, the omnipotent 'big brother' is forcing them to participate in the noxious act of abortion by using their tax money."

James said that the proposed HEW regulations, which would pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of aborting the children of indigent women, would be in direct conflict with congressional prohibitions against using abortion as a means of birth control.

Jury indicts 'Amarillo Slim'

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Thomas Preston, 46, better known in the world of professional gambling as "Amarillo Slim," has been indicted on charges of gambling promotion.

Preston and Earl Summers,

47, were indicted Thursday by a Potter County grand jury, accused of receiving and recording bets and of using property under their control as a gambling place. They were arrested Oct. 19 and have been free on $5,000 bonds.

New college building is topic of talk

Kiwanians heard an explanation of the proposed State Fair Community College vocational-technical education building at their luncheon meeting Thursday at the Bothwell Hotel.

SFCC President Fred Davis explained the various vocational-technical programs offered at the college, pointing out that SFCC also serves as an area vocational-technical school for surrounding high schools. He said this enables schools to make a much smaller investment in vocational-technical education than they would otherwise be required to do.

Davis said a central building is needed to bring most of the programs under one roof. "We could really meet the needs of the students a lot better if we had permanent facilities," said Davis.

The proposed 60-cent increase in the SFCC operating levy for one year, which will be voted on Dec. 2, will cost a homeowner with a $5,000 assessed valuation about $2.31 a month for 13 months, said Davis.

He said the junior college district should look at the proposal as an investment in tomorrow's youth, some of whom might otherwise get off the track. "To me it's a matter of simple economics," said Davis.

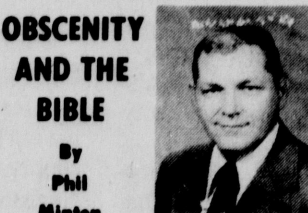

Vice President Bill Mills arranged for the program.

Business news

Mrs. Mary Ann Smith, 507 South State Fair Boulevard, has been named personnel service assistant for the Rival Manufacturing Co. in Sedalia, according to Bill Hall, Rival corporate manager for community and industrial relations.

Mrs. Smith will be in charge of interviewing, screening and hiring local Rival employees, Hall said. She will also be in charge of maintaining company personnel records regarding insurance, vacations and all other fringe benefits.

"Mrs. Smith has been an employee of Rival in our payroll section since 1968," Hall said. "... we are indeed happy to have Mary Ann serve in this capacity."

OBSCENITY AND THE BIBLE
By Phil Minton

Webster's dictionary defines the word "obscene" as that which is offensive to chastity or to modesty. The Bible also has much to say about the subject, but for this occasion I shall cite only two instances.

The first instance occurs in Genesis 3:7. "And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons." This account tells of the sin of Adam and Eve and their attempt to clothe their bodies.

The second account deals with a man possessed by the devil. This man before his encounter with Jesus wore no clothes, but after he met Jesus he was changed completely. "Then they went out to see what was done; and came to Jesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right mind; and they were afraid." Luke 8:35.

From the above illustrations we should learn that the closer a nation or individual walks with God, the greater will be the attempt to properly clothe the body and to provide a respectable community. Conversely, the greater distance from God, the greater the degree of obscenity and lack of respectability.

Kelley says guns won't be confiscated

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The director of the FBI told a hometown audience that sportsmen and collectors should never have to fear that the government will confiscate their weapons.

"What we need is legislation barring the production and sale of 'Saturday night specials,' cheaply made handguns," said Clarence M. Kelley.

"Let's just get these Saturday night specials and take it from there," Kelley told a meeting of the Planning Executives Institute. "If we could do that, we would be well along the way. They are easily bought and easily thrown away later. And you couldn't hit the side of a barn with a Saturday night special."

The FBI chief estimated they are responsible for 50 to 60 per cent of all the crimes committed with handguns.

"There's a great concern about registration of firearms, people coming in to homes and confiscating them," Kelley said. "I don't think sportsmen need to be afraid; it's never going to come to that."

Kelley reflected on what has happened since he became director on July 9, 1973, after interrupting his FBI career to be Kansas City's chief of police for 12 years.

"I think the FBI is a matchless organization, and there is nothing sinister about it," Kelley said. "I'm going to stay as long as I can, as long as my health permits and as long as they want me."

Alert motorist saves woman, grandson

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Jim Henson casually glanced from his pickup truck to the car next to him. His eyes met the eyes of Ester tewart for a split second as the two vehicles rolled down an urban interstate highway.

Suddenly, just as Henson was looking away, he saw the woman's eyes roll up in her head and she sank in her seat. A young boy stood on the front seat in the driverless car.

"I knew I had to do something," said Henson, a 37-year-old salesman.

He nudged his pickup truck into the left lane next to Mrs. Stewart's car.

Attempting to use the metal guardrail on the highway as a cushion, Henson nudged the car into it. The car hit the guardrail and bounced off. Again and again, he pushed the car into the guardrail as the two vehicles climbed a rise in the highway.

Tommy Kitchens, Mrs. Stewart's 2½-year-old grandson, still stood on the front seat.

After cresting the hill, the truck and the car picked up speed as they headed toward a heavily traveled interstate interchange.

Henson pulled his truck in front of the car, jerked the steering wheel to the right and pinned it to a concrete wall.

Mrs. Stewart had disappeared and Tommy still stood on the seat, watching.

"They tell me I was out for 12 to 65 minutes," Mrs. Stewart said Thursday from a hospital bed. It was not immediately known what caused Mrs. Stewart to pass out.

Moslems
guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Increased support from the Palestinian guerrillas has given Lebanon's Moslems the upper hand in their war with the Christians, proving once again that the Palestinians hold the decisive military power in this small divided nation on Israel's northern border.

Guerrilla units are now leading Moslem militias with new offensive tactics and heavy weapons that include batteries of Soviet Katyusha rockets.

As a result, the Moslems have advanced into several districts of Beirut formerly controlled by the Christians of the right-wing Phalange and National Liberal parties.

Zuhair Mohsen, leader of the Syrian-backed Saiga guerrillas, claimed the Palestinians were defending their Moslem brothers from Phalangist incursions. But Bassam Abu Sharif of the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed the much larger guerrilla role had resulted in clearcut defeat for the Phalange.

"They just couldn't take it," he bragged. "They suffered heavy losses when we changed the battle tactics of our nationalist forces. Instead of firing mortars from fixed positions we advanced into their areas and took them."

Small radical Palestinian groups had been fighting on the side of the Lebanese Moslems since the beginning of the civil war last April. But this is the first time in seven months that the larger, more "respectable" groups like Yasir Arafat's Al Fatah and Mohsen's Saiga are admitting that they are taking part.

Previously, they professed neutrality and tried unsuccessfully to enforce the repeated cease-fires in joint patrols with Lebanese security forces. Some Saiga and Fatah men still participate in the joint patrols, but largely in quiet areas where they are not really needed.

Except for Lebanon's 18,000-man army, which the Moslem politicians have kept out of the fighting because most of its officers are Christians, some 12,000 Palestinian guerrillas constitute the largest single military force in this country of 3 million people. They control refugee camps housing 250,000 Palestinian aliens and many areas of Lebanese Moslems around the camps.

Couple seeks settlement for auto accident

William and Florence Gerke, Cooper County, filed a two-count lawsuit Thursday in Pettis County Circuit Court for $150,000 and $25,000, respectively, against Roger Leon Althoff and Charles Stock Jr., both of Monticau County.

The suit maintains that Gerke, headed east on Highway 50, was waiting to make a left turn north onto Highway 155. Althoff, driving a California Feed and Supply truck owned by Stock, ran into the rear of a car owned by Marjorie Ellen Naw, who was directly behind Gerke, the suit says. A chain reaction collision followed, the suit states, in which Gerke received bodily injuries.

The suit alleges Althoff was driving negligently and seeks damages to cover the cost of the resulting hospital and doctor bills and loss of wages to Gerke and Mrs. Gerke's loss of her husband's society, companionship and earnings.

Weed control proposal is topic of meeting here

Farmers and landowners attending a state House of Representatives agriculture subcommittee hearing on noxious weeds in the Municipal Building Thursday largely agreed on the necessity of an updated state weed control statute, but disagreed on how it should be implemented.

The hearing was led by subcommittee chairman Rep. Jim Russell (D-Sixth District). Also helping moderate were local Rep. Jim Mathewson, Reps. Scoop Usher (D-12th District) and Rep. Vernon Betz (R-Third District). Also attending the meeting were Rep. James Smith (D-46th District) and about 55 local and area farmers and agricultural specialists.

Barry Mattern, a representative of the State Department of Agriculture, explained that if a proposed statute drafted by the department were passed by the state legislature, the statute would be enacted in any county only if approved by the voters in a general or special election. A petition signed by at least 50 landowners must be presented to the county clerk before the proposal would be voted upon. If it is not approved, the proposal could not be resubmitted for at least two years. Such an election would also call for a special tax levy to finance the program.

It was noted that a special Johnsongrass control program, established under existing statutes, already exists in Pettis County. The proposed statute, it was explained, would strengthen this program.

Under the proposed statute, Mattern continued, if private individuals do not attempt to eradicate and control noxious weeds on their property, a board of governors, consisting of county residents, could authorize to have the job done by another party at the landowner's expense. If the landowner fails to pay for this work, the bill would then be added to his yearly county tax statement.

Also under this recommended law, railroads and highway departments would be required to control noxious weeds along their rights-of-way. Violation of these provisions would be a misdemeanor, Mattern explained.

The Department of Agriculture recommends a "county option" means of enacting any noxious weed ordinance, rather than state-wide enactment, "because of the (department's) current financial situation," Mattern said. "We simply cannot afford to administer such a program over the entire state at this time," he added. "We would hope that the counties who want such a statute would be responsible for administering and enforcing it."

Milton Mathew, Pettis County Johnsongrass control supervisor, disagreed with Mattern, saying, "I feel it should be state-wide, because if it is just left up to the counties, you may end up with a system which won't be effective. One county may have it and the next one wouldn't. To have the best possible and most effective program, I feel you're going to have to have it apply automatically all over the state."

It was also noted that the list of noxious weeds to be covered under such a statute would be individually determined by each county.

"After all," Mattern noted, "we have to remember that a weed is simply a plant that grows where it's not supposed to. A weed in one northern county may not be considered a weed down in the bootheel."

Another problem plaguing attempts to control Johnsongrass and other noxious weeds, Rep. Mathewson noted, is increasing absentee ownership, in which farms are purchased by persons living far away. In many such cases, he noted, the landowners fail to keep in touch with their neighbors regarding combined efforts to remove and control weeds.

The subcommittee plans to hold several other hearings across the state.

Foreign aid package double of '75 total

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is seeking congressional approval of a foreign aid package that would double current U.S. aid around the world and supply a total of $3.38 billion to Mideast countries.

In a message outlining his foreign aid proposals, Ford told Congress on Thursday that he wants total expenditure of $4.7 billion for aiding foreign governments, with about 70 per cent of that amount earmarked for the Middle East.

His request more than doubles the current congressionally approved aid level of $2.21 billion. Much of the increase is due to a jump in requested Middle East spending from $1.13 billion to $3.38 billion.

"I am confident the Congress shares my desire to see the United States continue to manifest to all nations its determination to play a role in the search for a more secure international environment which is worthy of its greatness as a nation," Ford said.

Service station is robbed by two men

COLE CAMP — The Benton County sheriff's department and the city marshal here Friday morning were still looking for two men, one of them reportedly armed with a .32 caliber revolver, who robbed the Veales Skelly Service station here of approximately $100 at 7:40 p.m. Tuesday.

The two men held up a station attendant at gunpoint and emptied the contents of a cash register. There was no one else in the station at the time of the robbery, it was reported.

One of the men, Deputy Darrell Fishback said, reportedly has black hair that is graying at the temples. The two drove away in what was described as a late model 1950 or early model 1960 Chrysler.

The sheriff's office has notified law enforcement officials in surrounding counties regarding the incident, Fishback said. No one was injured in the robbery.

He told Congress that the United States has "a primary responsibility" to ensure world peace.

Ford's proposal would send $1.5 billion in military aid to Israel, along with $740 million in economic aid. In addition, the President suggested that $750 million be granted to Egypt as economic aid.

Ford said his purpose in requesting the military aid for Israel was to provide the Jewish state "with the assistance needed to maintain security and to persevere in the negotiating process."

Over the past two years, Israel received $3.15 billion in military and economic aid and Egypt got $251 million last year. The current package also includes $50 million to pay for the stationing of American technicians in the Sinai to monitor the Sinai peace.

In addition to the aid for Israel and Egypt, the President recommended $175 million in military aid and $78 million in economic support for Jordan; $90 million in economic assistance to Syria; and $5 million in military sales to Lebanon.

Prison awaiting Sedalia man

Burl Allen Brown, 18, 1017 South Massachusetts, was ordered to serve a prison sentence in custody of the Missouri Department of Corrections after his probation was revoked Thursday afternoon in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Brown pleaded guilty April 24 to charges of second-degree burglary and stealing of more than $275 worth of coins from the office of Dr. Floyd L. Lively, 620 South Osage, on Dec. 1.

He was sentenced May 19 to a two-year concurrent prison term and was placed on three years probation.

Brown was arrested by police Sept. 19 and charged with stealing a pair of shoes from Payless Shoes, 1709 West Broadway, worth less than $50.

Rehearsal is set for 'Messiah' here

The first rehearsal for the annual presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in room B-13 at State Fair Community College, it was announced Friday.

Mrs. Geraldine Schrader, instructor of music at SFCC, will direct the performance, which will be held during the Christmas season. No definite date has yet been determined. All interested persons are encouraged to attend the practice session.

Court action sought over
CATV rates

Cablevision, Inc., filed a "petition for review" Thursday afternoon in Pettis County Circuit Court against the city of Sedalia in an effort to obtain a $6.90 per month rate increase.

The petition maintains that the City Council's Oct. 6 denial of the $6.90 rate request has prevented the company from establishing "fair and reasonable rates and charges for installation of equipment and regular subscriber services."

The subscription rate for Cablevision's services went from $4.90 to $5.90 in January and on July 21, the council approved another increase to $6.15 per month, which became effective Sept. 1. Cablevision's Aug. 4 request for a rate increase to $6.90 was discussed at a public hearing Sept. 2, but was voted down unanimously by the council Oct. 6.

The petition says the city's denial of the rate increase is also "unconstitutional and contrary to the provisions of the 14th amendment" of the U.S. Constitution, because it deprives the company of "property without due process of law."

It goes on to state that the council's action was "arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable," and that the council had abused its discretionary power in rejecting the increase.

The petition asks the court to reverse the council's decision and direct the city to approve the $6.90 rate.

Innocent pleas to sodomy, rape and robbery charges

Three Sedalia men pleaded innocent to charges of rape, sodomy, and first-degree robbery in Circuit Court Thursday afternoon.

Kendis Scroggins, 17, 308 West Pettis; Gary Staten, 18, 353 West Saline; and Terrance Wilson, 18, 364 West Saline, entered the pleas during their arraignment in Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge Frank Meyer also denied motions by Wilson and Scroggins to reduce their bonds.

All three remained in jail Friday in lieu of $50,000 bond each.

A fourth man, Wayman Roseman, 17, whose last known address was 409 West Henry, is still being sought by authorities on the same charges.

The four are charged in connection with the Aug. 8 rape and robbery of a rural Pettis County woman and the robbery of a man who was with her. The incident occurred about three-tenths of a mile north of Highway 50 on old Highway 50.

Judge Meyer set Jan. 5 as the final date for hearing any motions pertaining to the case. Following any motions, a date will be set for the trial.

Correct amount

Pettis County Clerk Mary Jane Wilson is currently engaged in preparing tax statements for county residents living in the Golden Rule Nursing Home district. The statements will include a 15-cent levy for operation of the district until issuance of general obligation bonds, to be voted on Nov. 18, is approved. It was incorrectly reported in Thursday's Democrat and Friday's Capital that the special operating levy would be for 65 cents.

Wood stain on sweater

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR READERS — House plans are enjoying even more popularity than ever before as we enjoy them, talk to them and play music for them. Many that have been out of doors during the summer have now sought the warmth of the indoors and can be a real decorative asset or a bodge podge.

As with any decorative accessories, grouping adds to their importance. However, unlike an array of crystal or porcelain, brass or copper, proper light has to be a first consideration. Mass together those requiring the same degree of light-be it natural or artificial. Place tall plants in the back, lower ones in front and make a grouping as important and often more enjoyable than a large piece of furniture. In fact masses of plants and large ones can make up for the lack of as much furniture as a room really needs. If necessary, for a taller effect place some of the back ones on tables and the lower ones in front will hide the tables. If used along a window sill give thought to that arrangement. Make the most of these living accessories that should bring charm to the rooms they grace. Watering will be easier and the effect more dramatic if many are grouped together in front of a window. Remove the curtains, stagger hanging baskets over the upper half of the window, line the sill and place even more on the floor below and have an important looking window garden of greenery with colorful blooming things highlighting the effect.

Discard those fancy papers and bows that may be a hangover from the day a gift plant was delivered from the florist. Plain clay pots have a natural and pleasing look but if one prefers something a bit more decorative try wicker baskets of different sizes and shapes. Line with foil for protection from water and paint or stain as desired. Happy window gardening! — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Like Denise I, too, had a problem with my "never wax" floor covering. Mine looked so dull I decided to re-wax it, but then it turned yellow. I used a good floor stripper and a lot of muscle to remove the wax, then applied a floor sealer to close the "pores" in the covering. Instead of wax I next used a floor finish. This solved my problem and now my "no wax" floors look as good as new and this process has to be repeated only every six to twelve months depending on the amount of traffic it gets. — LINDA H.

DEAR POLLY — I would like to tell other vegetable growers my nice way to store onions. Fill a clean nylon stocking with onions, tie both ends and hang them up to dry. — BRUNHILDE.

DEAR POLLY — Recently I wanted to do a bit of embroidery but had no hoops so I made some makeshift ones by cutting the flat portion out of the top of a round oatmeal carton and a circle of the cardboard from the top of the oatmeal box itself. Being approximately four inches in diameter these served very nicely as embroidery hoops. This is also a good way to make hoops for a young girl who wants to play at embroidering "like Mommy" instead of letting her have her own hoops. Serves its purpose for make-believe and no pinched fingers either. — KAREN.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — While working on my decoupage I spilled a few drops of wood sealing stain on a 100 per cent acrylic sweater. I am desperate as I really like this sweater and hope you have some suggestions. The sweater is white and the stain is brown. Please help. — SHARON.

DEAR SHARON — I have no remedy for wood stain spots specifically, but try a paint remover such as turpentine. First test to see its effect on the sweater's fibers. Sponge turpentine on, working toward the center, and then apply dry cleaning fluid the same way. If the sealer used seems more like shellac, the treatment for shellac stains is to apply warm alcohol with an eye dropper. Sponge toward the center and repeat until all is gone. The stain could be soaked in two parts water to one part alcohol. Hope one of these will help, but do remember to test effect on your fabric first. — POLLY.

Used car salesman shoots, kills man

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A man was shot and killed Thursday by a used car salesman who told officers the man had taken his wallet containing $100, police said.

The victim was identified as Kenneth G. Tyree, 30.

Tyree was shot by Q. L. Murphy, 52, who said a man entered his office Thursday morning, displayed a pistol and demanded his money, police said.

Carl Rowan McGovern advice not good for party

WASHINGTON — Strange fellow, this George McGovern. In 1972 he carried the Democratic party into catastrophic defeat. So what was he doing in Ames, Iowa, the other night? Lecturing aspirants for the 1976 nomination on what their victory strategy should be.

Rowan

Now, McGovern preceded his advice-giving with a listing of the many boners made in his '72 campaign, and he took personal blame for them.

But having admitted egregious error, which led to the Nixon landslide, McGovern allowed as how he now is wise enough to tell Sanford and Shriver, Udall and Bayh, Carter and Harris, Jackson and the rest of them how to go about winning the White House next year.

McGovern advises them to demand "orderly withdrawal" of American forces from South Korea within a year to avoid another Vietnam-type debacle. The South Dakota Senator also told the Democratic hopefuls that "a party that almost lost its soul in Vietnam must not sell its soul on busing." Thus, says McGovern, the Democratic candidates must stand squarely behind court rulings ordering busing to achieve "racial balance."

Now, I happen to be part of that minority of Americans who believe busing is a proper remedy when a judge finds a clear case of racial injustice and concludes there is no way other than busing to give children relief from injustice. But I can hardly recommend to the Democratic candidate in 1976 that he prove he is "forward looking" to use McGovern's phrase, by jumping forth to argue about busing.

Busing is an issue of high demagogic potential, and when the anti-busing demagoguery begins, the Democrat is going to come out losing votes.

For the good of the country, we had better hope that all the politicians leave the busing issue alone in '76, although I am showing utter naivete in even suggesting that I think they might.

McGovern isn't being any more realistic now than he was in his '72 campaign when he suggests that in 1976 the Democrats make an issue of withdrawal of troops from South Korea.

"Today in Korea we are defending a corrupt dictatorship, as we did to that last shameful day in Saigon," McGovern says.

While millions of Americans may agree with the characterization of the South Korean government as a corrupt dictatorship, those same Americans will reject any candidate who talks as though he wants to virtually hand South Korea to the Communists. The danger of a Vietnam-type debacle in Korea may be as great as McGovern suggests, but most Americans do not perceive it.

President Ford is going to China hoping to win a few votes back home, but he'll find that Nixon de-loaded that vein. Nobody is going to win the presidency on foreign policy issues next year — barring, of course, some outbreak of major warfare.

The man who figures he has a real chance of becoming the Democratic candidate had better figure out how he can make the American people:

✓Trust him, and believe that he is a person of morality, integrity, compassion — a natural leader.

✓Believe that he has the knowledge, the initiative, the imagination to halt rampant joblessness and curb runaway prices without further expanding an already overswollen government.

✓Rely on him to restore a sense of hope, pride, self-confidence that will cause Americans to stop cursing, hating, killing each other.

The American people want, need and deserve inspired leadership on issues that touch the vitals of their communities. Some will fall for demagoguery, but most would like to see a man who is truly above it. Korea matters, but people are a lot more concerned about jobs, prices, crime, New York City and impending calamity in other urban areas.

Could McGovern be serious in the advice he is giving his colleagues? Or could there be truth in those reports circulating around this town that McGovern seriously thinks of himself as the candidate again in '76.

NOW's radical lurch

The National Organization of Women (NOW) demonstrated its clout Wednesday when its call for a nationwide strike by women fell flat on its face. Judging from reports nationwide, the vast majority of women totally ignored the strike call and went about their business, whether in the home or elsewhere.

NOW, which has been the radical vanguard of the feminist movement in recent years, went totally off the fringe at its national convention Sunday, when it re-elected Karen DeCrow as president, whose battle cry was "out of the mainstream and into the revolution."

Her election was a victory for NOW extremists as well as lesbians, who were allied with the DeCrow faction. The organization found a champion in Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., who has introduced legislation in Congress to make it a federal offense to "discriminate" against homosexuals of both sexes.

As an indicator of just how far NOW has been radicalized, even Betty Friedan, the organization's founder and by no one's definition a conservative, said she is "very disturbed at what is going on."

There are more than 110 million females in America of all ages; NOW represents about 60,000 of them. For it to purport to speak for American women should take some sort of prize for audacity.

United Way push needed

As it is customarily prone to do, the United Way campaign is bogging down at the very point where it is supposed to be reaching its goal. Campaign chairman Lloyd Banaka reported this week that only about $40,000 has been turned in so far by workers.

This leaves around $60,000 to go toward this year's goal of $100,350. That means that a lot of money is going to have to come in soon if the drive is to conclude anywhere near schedule.

Instead of letting this campaign drag on into the holiday season, when it is doubly difficult to get anything done, everyone should make a concerted effort to close it out quickly.

We all know we're going to do it eventually, so why wait?

A 'numbers game' played in Vietnam

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The conscience-stricken ex-CIA analyst, Sam Adams, told Congress the truth about the false estimates spread by U.S. officials before the 1968 Tet offensive.

His testimony has produced a controversy over juggled statistics. Other intelligence experts have called it all "a numbers game." But the numbers, tragically, were flesh and blood. By official count, 920 Americans died in the Tet attack.

Sam Adams' revelations have led the House Intelligence Committee to investigate the alleged role of Lt. Gen. Daniel Graham, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, in distributing the phony figures.

It's a story we happen to know something about. Ten weeks before the Tet offensive, we learned about the secret dispute over intelligence estimates. We reported on Nov. 30, 1967, that Maj. Gen. Joseph McChristian, the Army intelligence chief in Vietnam, had been transferred to Texas for reporting higher estimates than the Pentagon liked.

"McChristian's estimates of Communist infiltration and recruitment," we wrote, "were a constant source of annoyance to Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who thought they were higher than they ought to be ...

"Intelligence specialists, who worked with McChristian, have told this column that his estimates were conservative. He insisted upon hard information and would never resort to guesswork ... There was subtle pressure on McChristian from the Pentagon to reduce his estimates, which he refused to do."

The Tet explosion convinced us that the military brass had made a ghastly miscalculation. We flew to the battle scene to seek the evidence. In Vietnam, we obtained a confidential, pre-Tet report which badly underestimated Communist strength. "It is now clear," we were able to write, "that our policy-makers have been basing their war plans upon faulty intelligence."

We quoted at length from the confidential report, which concluded: "We believe the tide has turned and the enemy strength is on the decline. There is evidence of faltering morale and discipline among the southern enemy — the true Viet Cong. There are fewer but significant signs that the northern invader is likewise weakening."

We were shown other corroborative documents in Vietnam, but nervous sources asked us not to quote them. Some of these have now been made available to us.

They show how Washington not only suppressed McChristian's unwanted warnings but encouraged the Saigon command to sell a rosy outlook to the press. Saigon came back in October, 1967, with plans for a massive press campaign to portray the enemy as faltering.

"We will hold on-the-record briefings," cabled Saigon, "whenever some point can be proved by captured documents ... concise, hard-hitting briefings designed to allay credibility problems."

The Saigon authorities sought to prove "that the enemy is fast losing control of the people for his side, his recruitment has dropped off sharply, he is having food shortages and he is having serious problems collecting VC taxes."

The Saigon proposals went so far that Washington cautioned in a secret "joint State-Defense message" in November, 1967: "We are concerned lest our credibility be tarnished by overstatement of our case. While some pieces of the arguments can stand unchallenged, others are more vulnerable because of the fragmentary nature of the evidence."

Still, Gen. William Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, sent the Pentagon a secret, year-end report promising: "Through careful exploitation of the enemy's vulnerabilities and application of our superior firepower and mobility, we should expect our gains of 1967 to be increased manifold in 1968."

Exactly 29 days later, the Communists, far from faltering, stunned Washington by attacking South Vietnam's main centers during the Tet holiday. McChristian had been right, his critics wrong. Their miscalculations were paid for with American blood. Yet he remained in Texas, and they continued to direct the war effort.

Now Sam Adams, whose CIA intelligence confirmed McChristian's estimates, has reopened the episode. We can furnish the House Intelligence Committee with documents supporting Adams' testimony. We also suggest that the committee invite McChristian to testify.

With the help of Saga magazine, we located the retired general who spoke out publicly for the first time. He told us how he organized military intelligence from the ground up, beginning in 1965. He wound up with the best intelligence, he said, "we ever had on the battlefield."

An operation, code-named Cedar Falls, brought in key enemy documents and personnel throughout 1966-67. As early as the spring of 1967, almost a year before the Tet invasion, U.S. military intelligence had sufficient data to predict the offensive, McChristian contended.

He forwarded the information to the top command which took his information "very seriously," he related. But over his protests, he was transferred to Texas in June, 1967.

The Tet offensive should not have been a surprise, he told us. "We had a very good picture of the enemy's strength and plans."

Footnote: General Westmoreland, despite his misleading 1967 year-end report, told us he agreed with McChristian. The Tet offensive, he said, was in no way a surprise. "We almost called the date," he said. He even tried to intercept the attackers before they reached Saigon but couldn't because of the jungle expanse, he said. He is also eager, he said, to have the truth about Tet made public.

25 years ago

The invasion of North Korea by considerable Red forces, said to be made up largely of Chinese Communists from Manchuria, could be the forerunner of a grave situation.

When the Second Continental Congress resumed sessions in Philadelphia on Sept. 12, 1775, it had to contend with the problems of supplying and enlarging the army, enacting articles of war, fighting inflation and enlisting foreign aid. John Adams wrote a friend at this time: "The management of so complicated and mighty a machine as the United Colonies, requires the meekness of Moses, the patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon, added to the valour of David." The World Almanac recalls.

Getting back to origins

By DOUG KNEIBERT

Out of the clutter that has been collecting on my desk over the last few months, I dug out the other day a most interesting little book prepared as a bicentennial service by American Brands Inc.

It's called "The American Revolution: Three Views," and contains essays by noted scholars on that subject. I've not finished it yet, but the first selection has provided some nourishing food for thought.

Irving Kristol is the author of the first essay, entitled, "The American Revolution as a Successful Revolution." Mr. Kristol is the possessor of a clear mind and a lucid and engaging style, and what he is writing about merits our attention.

Amidst all the bicentennial hoopla — which mainly seems to center around THINGS — I have had the nagging feeling that somehow we are missing the main boat. T-shirts and pewter colonial mugs are fine, but shouldn't we also find out a little about our country's beginnings in the process?

Kristol says it well:

"So it would seem today, 200 years after the Tet invasion, U.S. military intelligence had sufficient data to predict the offensive, McChristian contended."

In his essay, Kristol takes a look at what made the American Revolution unique, how it differed from other revolutions that usually ended up consuming their children, and how current political thought relates to what the Founding Fathers were talking about.

Kristol whets your appetite to learn more about the origins of this country of ours. He is ready with some recommendations for further reading: the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, the Mayflower Compact. Most of all he suggests we dip into the Federalist papers for some classic background material on the idea of representative government. (If you tend to take representative government for granted, don't. For instance did you know that of the 135 members of the United Nations, only 20 are governed by parliamentary representation? There's a statistic for you to mull over.)

All of Kristol's suggestions are original documents, the foundation stones upon which the United States was built. They should be the basis for any course in American history (oops! sorry — social studies), but I have a suspicion that they probably aren't nowadays. Beyond that, every informed citizen should at least have a passing knowledge of what is contained here.

Granted this is not the sort of stuff you would pick up for bedtime reading. Any kind of systematic study of these documents would best be done in an informal seminar-type setting, like the Great Discussions program. But as far as I know there are no plans to institute something like this locally. It's not too late to start thinking about it.

I can't think of a better bicentennial service for the community.

Fourth-suit forcing is a modern invention. We hope it will never replace horse and buggy bidding.

North's two-diamond call is an example. He didn't know what to bid so he tried two diamonds to see what might happen.

This caused South to bid two and three notrump and North had to decide what to do. Finally, he passed in the hope that South could handle the diamond suit by himself. It turned out that South could. East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit. South won and led the queen of spades covered by West's king and dummy's ace. At this point South decided to take an unusual safety play. He led a low heart from dummy and played the eight spot from his own hand.

This safety play cost him an overtrick, but South did not care. The game was rubber bridge and he was interested in being as sure of his contract as possible.

Big showdown: MU vs. 'Huskers

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Third-ranked Nebraska's Saturday invasion of Missouri looms as an offensive slugfest, but don't bet the family trousseau.

"On paper it looks like it will be," Coach Tom Osborne of the unbeaten Cornhuskers noted of the noon, CST, clash of Big Eight powers on national television, "but it might not turn out that way.

"Our teams are such fierce rivals that just about anything could happen," Osborne said. "You just never know. Our team has played good defense. Defensively, they seem to be maybe the quickest team we've faced."

Nebraska, off to its best start since 1971 in its third season under the 38-year-old Osborne, is a six-point favorite to improve its season's record to 8-0 and its Big Eight mark to 4-0.

But a fiery band of Missouri Tigers, who are 5-2 overall and 2-1 in the Big Eight, are prepared to concede nothing and have weapons of their own.

"People say it's going to be Nebraska vs. (second-rated) Oklahoma for the championship," offensive line coach Tony Kopay of 12th-ranked Missouri remarked. "We hope that attitude will be a little different after Saturday."

Missouri, an emotional team, surprised national title hopeful Alabama 20-7 in its opening game and was afterward 3-0 before falling 31-7 at Michigan.

Then, after blitzing Oklahoma State 41-14 behind the passing arm of brilliant junior Steve Pisarkiewicz, the Tigers again faltered and lost 31-20 to Colorado.

A 35-3 triumph achieved last week with room to spare over Kansas State restored in large part Missouri's confidence and left Coach Al Onofrio in an optimistic mood.

"You can't compare scores," Onofrio declared, referring to Nebraska's 63-21 rout of Colorado the same day. "They beat Colorado decisively, but there were a lot of fumbles."

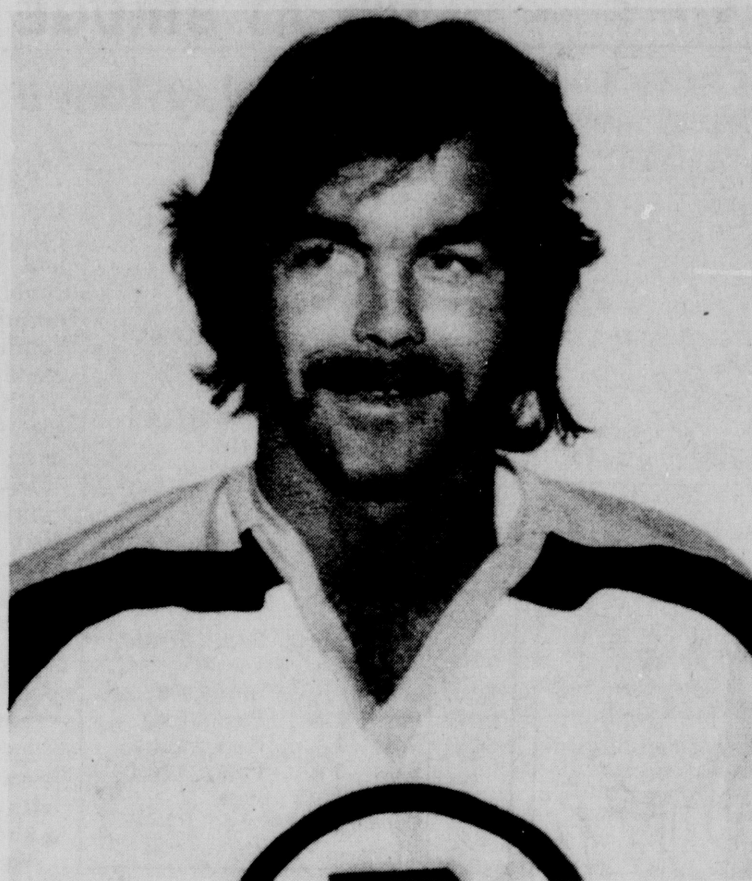

"The game got out of hand," Osborne acknowledged. "I was talking to Bill Mallory (Colorado coach) before the game and I said it might come down to a break or two. Then it developed into a whole series."

If the offenses open up, the contest will probably involve Pisarkiewicz's conference-leading passing against a punishing Nebraska ground game.

"They've got by far the best offensive team I've seen them have," Osborne said, "but our offense is getting stronger. We've continued to progress each week."

Nebraska's special incentive before a crowd expected to number 68,000 will be to avenge losses of 13-12 to the Tigers in 1973 and 21-10 last season.

"All I've been thinking about is Missouri," said Cleve Piller, a 6-foot-1, 207-pound Cornhusker junior linebacker. "We've always beaten Colorado, but we haven't beaten Missouri since 1972."

Derek Sanderson

Sanderson: I'll be happier with Blues

BOSTON (AP) — Center Derek Sanderson says he came to the New York Rangers with "illusions of grandeur" and instead found "clouds of despair."

Now he's in a St. Louis Blues uniform, traded by the Rangers Thursday. And his first game with the team seemed to support his feeling that he is "better off" at St. Louis, the fourth club to adopt him in his nine-year professional career.

The flamboyant star scored a goal — his first of the season — in a 3-2 National Hockey League loss to the Boston Bruins Thursday night.

"I'll be better off in St. Louis. I'll be much happier there," said Sanderson, who came to the Blues in exchange for a first-round selection in the 1977 amateur draft.

"They have a good club with a shot at winning the division, especially if we get goal-tending like we got tonight," he said.

Sanderson was off to a bad start this season, failing to score in eight games. Last year with the Rangers, he scored 25 goals and led the team with 106 penalty minutes.

His on-the-ice obscurity sharply contrasted his arrival in New York last summer when he sparked a departure in the grooming rules of Ranger General Manager Emile Francis. Restrictions on mustaches and long hair were dropped when Sanderson — noted for both — arrived.

But he never won a fulltime job in New York, being used mostly to center a fourth line or to fill in at left wing.

"I wasn't one of the Rangers' select society," he said. "I never would have been. Even if I had scored 50 goals I would not have been one of the favorites."

Sanderson left the troubled Rangers, however, with good words for his former teammates.

"I like New York, but I could see I was going nowhere there," he said. "I'll get a chance to play in St. Louis. New York has all the talent in the world, but they're not playing together right now. Once they put it together they'll be in the thick of things by February."

Ironically, to get Sanderson, the Blues gave back to New York the No. 1 draft choice they had received in the Lawrence Sacharuk trade.

"We have been after Sanderson for a long time," said Blues president Sid Salomon III. "As far as his off-the-ice antics are concerned, I'm not responsible unless they hurt the club."

Coach Garry Young, who has three active centers on the injured list, said he thought the 29-year-old Sanderson was one of the top face-off and checking players in the NHL.

"He was used only as a spare center last year by the Rangers and he still scored 25 goals and 25 assists, which shows what he can do," Young said.

Sanderson broke into the league with Boston in 1967 and was the NHL rookie-of-the-year that season when he scored 24 goals. After four more seasons with the Bruins, he jumped to the new World Hockey Association, signing a reported $2.6 million contract with the Philadelphia Blazers.

Jennewein has bright prospects for Grems

By RON HIGGINS
Staff Sports Writer

Tom Jennewein, coach of the Sacred Heart Gremlins, has a very bright outlook for this coming basketball season.

Jennewein, in his second year as head coach of the Gremlins, and their fans will get a chance to see this season's edition of the Grems in action Saturday night at home against Precious Blood of Liberty, Mo.

"These are the hardest working kids I've seen," praised Jennewein. "The kids I have will do anything I tell them."

Speaking of his team, Jennewein also said that this team has a tremendous amount of spirit and it will be a very tough decision in making the starting line-up. He feels that all of his players have equal talent and that one can do just as good as the other. According to Coach Jennewein, each player will probably get just as much playing time as the other.

With the addition of two new players — Matt Stevenson, a 6-1 senior forward-guard, and Mike Fall, a 5-10 junior guard — Coach Jennewein feels that the Gremlins will do better than seventh, which is their seeding in the Kaysinger Conference Tournament.

Those players Jennewein boasts about besides Stevenson and Fall are John Borchers, a 5-11 junior guard-forward; Bruce Dooley, a 5-10 junior guard; Mel Simon, a 6-0 junior forward; Mike Bernard, a 6-2 senior center; Joe Bellmer, also a senior, stands at 5-9 and is a guard; Brad Nicholson, a 6-2½ junior center; Lenny Freund, a 5-10 sophomore guard; and Joe Lalla, another 5-10 sophomore guard.

Nicholson, Freund, and Lalla are coming up from last year's junior varsity. Freund and Lalla will be seeing part-time action this year both on the junior varsity and varsity.

Of his team, Coach Jennewein also believes this is the quickest team in the Kaysinger Conference. He said even though height may hurt, quickness could make up for it.

When asked about the loss of Rick Weller, the second-leading scorer in the Kaysinger Conference last year with an 18.1 average, and Mark Register, the team's third leading scorer last year, Coach Jennewein said, "It won't hurt that much."

His reason for this is the addition of the two new players (Stevenson and Fall) and the returning of Mel Simon, a sophomore last year who helped his team considerably by pouring in 10.7 points a game. These players should make up for the loss of Weller and Register.

Coach Jennewein doesn't like to make any predictions, but he feels that Stover, Cole Camp and Smithton will give the Gremlins the most trouble in their quest for the top spot in the Kaysinger Conference.

State Fair Community College and Missouri Valley College split a pair of matches in girls volleyball action Thursday afternoon in the Agriculture Building on the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

State Fair winds up the season Saturday in Lawrence, Kan., in the Greater Kansas City Community College Conference tournament.

Wright favors MU by point over NU

By PICK M. WRIGHT
Fearless Forecaster

For those of you interested in statistics, yours truly is picking 'em right 83 per cent of the time, or 38 and 8 overall. Stats are misleading, though. For instance, take away the seven times I've picked Oklahoma to win this year (it doesn't take many smarts to pick OU every week) and the record falls to 31-8. Take away the Nebraska games and the record dips to 25-7. But on the other hand, delete the Kansas games and the record improves to 36-3. That's right, I've only picked KU successfully twice this year.

Nebraska (7-0) at Missouri (5-2)

After losing to Missouri the last two years, the Huskers ought to do more swinging Saturday than a Big Red drunk in a Columbia bar. The Huskers will get their four or five TD's against MU. The question is will Mizou do likewise? If Galbreath's healthy they will. A national TV audience sees the Tigers upset another powerhouse Saturday. Missouri 28, Nebraska 27.

Oklahoma (7-0) at Oklahoma State (5-2)

The Sooners won't get through the season undefeated. After narrowly missing an upset against Nebraska, the Cowboys got untracked against Kansas last Saturday. Saturday's as good as day as any for OU to lose No. 1. Another upset, Oklahoma State 24, Oklahoma 19.

Kansas State (3-4) at Kansas (4-3)

Kansas State lost too many valuable players to injuries in last week's loss to Missouri to win any more games here on. Kansas 31, Kansas State 14.

Iowa State (4-3) at Colorado (5-2)

The Cyclones will feel the wrath of the Buffs' 63-21 massacre at Lincoln last Saturday. Colorado 44, Iowa State 20.

Caps skate past K.C. Scouts, 6-2

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coach Milt Schmidt of Washington was being charitable. He could afford to be. His Capitals had just picked up an easy 6-2 National Hockey League decision over the Kansas City Scouts.

"I thought we caught a very tired hockey team," he said after Thursday night's game.

Coach Bep Guidolin of Kansas City wasn't that charitable. He was almost noncommittal. "I don't have any comment on that game," he said. "There is nothing to say about a game like that."

"We were here waiting for them for a day, and they played last night," Schmidt said. "Since they figured to be a little more tired, our plan was to go in after them and send two men in after the puck."

The strategy worked like a charm. Tommy Williams scored two goals and Jack Egers, Hartland Monahan, Mike Marson and Tony White had one each. By the time the Scouts scored their first goal at 15:59 of the second period, the Caps were already riding a 3-0 lead.

Williams' second goal at 8:04 of the final period gave Washington a 5-1 cushion, and took the edge off rookie Hugh Harvey's second score for the Scouts, and his first NHL goal.

Kansas City fell to 3-5-1 after allowing the Caps only their third road victory in two years. They won their second at Chicago Sunday 7-5.

Also playing his first NHL game as goalie for the Caps was Bernie Wolfe who stopped 30 Kansas City shots handily, and won a backhanded accolade from his coach.

"He let that last one sneak through his legs, but he made some other big saves," Schmidt said.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Triangles have announced the signing of Trinity University star Jo Ann Russell for the 1976 World Team Tennis season.

Miss Russell, 21, posted a 25-1 singles record at the Texas school before forfeiting her final year of college eligibility to turn professional last July.

She led Trinity to NCAA women's titles in 1973 and 1975 and was also a member of the U.S. Junior Wightman Cup team for the past three years.

John McKay expected to take expansion club

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Southern California football Coach John McKay will coach the Tampa Bay Buccaneers when that team joins the National Football League in 1976, the club announced today.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — John McKay of Southern California was expected to announce today that he was quitting his college job at the end of the season to coach the National Football League's Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The Tampa Tribune reported today that McKay would make his announcement in California at 2 p.m. EST.

A spokesman for the Southern Cal athletic department said, however, that no news conference was scheduled and that the Trojans were to leave Los Angeles for their Saturday game with California at 1 p.m.

It has been widely speculated that McKay, one of the nation's most successful college coaches, has decided to join the pros.

McKay, in quest of his eighth straight victory, has coached USC to three other undefeated seasons, four national championships and eight Rose Bowl berths.

The Tribune said that if plans go as expected Bucs' owner Hugh Culverhouse will make the announcement simultaneously in Tampa. McKay and Culverhouse have been negotiating since mid-summer.

The son of a West Virginia coal miner, McKay last year was president of the Football Coaches Association of America.

In California, the Long Beach Press Telegram also reported that McKay has decided to make the jump to the pros.

McKay was quoted as saying earlier this week that pressure had become "tremendous" on his family, coaching staff and Trojan players.

"It's just unfair for everybody to have to live with this," he said.

The report said McKay had met with USC President John Hubbard to tell him of the decision and that McKay had recommended longtime assistant Dave Levy to become head coach and another assistant, Craig Fertig, as athletic director.

McKay would stay until the end of the season, including any bowl appearances by the Trojans who are currently 7-0 and ranked No. 4 in the nation.

Reportedly, the offer from Tampa "includes various possible roles over a 15-year period" and involves more than $1 million in salary and fringe benefits including a provision to buy a percentage of the team after five years.

McKay, 52, has been at Southern Cal since 1960 and has also been the Trojan athletic director for the past five years.

Haywood pours in 26 in Knicks' 117-113 victory over K.C. Kings

NEW YORK (AP) — Spencer Haywood, the newest Knick, can't wait to get out of town.

Haywood, the object of media overkill since coming to the Knicks from Seattle one day before the start of the National Basketball Association season, is looking forward to New York's five-game road trip to the West Coast next week just to get some time to himself.

"I was just overwhelmed by the whole New York experience," said the soft-spoken Haywood. "The whole New York thing has had me up in the air. The only time that has been Spencer's has been when I've been sleeping."

"I think when we get on the road I'll have some time to calm down."

Haywood has been looking more at home with the Knicks in each outing and Thursday night he looked downright comfortable scoring 26 points and pulling down 11 rebounds as New York beat Kansas City 117-113.

"I felt better tonight, more relaxed," he said. "You can't do anything unless you're relaxed. I came here with a lot of ideas about changing numbers and what not, but it's not going to be like that."

"I'm just going to play my heart out and try to win for the Knicks and then go home and try to live my own life."

Haywood started out like a ball of fire against Kansas City, scoring eight points over the first six minutes. He finished the first quarter with 10 points and seven rebounds, but ran into foul trouble and was less effective the rest of the way.

The Kings, trailing 26-14 late in the first period, rallied behind speedy Nate Archibald to go ahead 55-54 at the half. Archibald scored 19 points over the first two quarters. He added 14 more in the third period, but Walt Frazier netted 10 and reserve center Neal Walk had seven to bring the Knicks to an 85-82 lead after three.

The Kings never caught up. Haywood and John Gianelli sank two free throws each in the final minute to ice it for New York.

Archibald managed just two points in the final period and finished with 35 on the night. Scott Wedman added 25 and Sam Lacey 15.

It was New York's second victory in five tries and Frazier said he thinks the club is coming together.

"We are starting to jell. I think we're about ready to start playing the kind of basketball we're capable of," he said. "When we fell behind I thought, 'here we go again', but we hung in there and that's what you have to do."

Frazier led New York with 32 points and Earl Oonroe and Walk, playing about half the game in relief of Gianelli at center, added 16 each.

It was the third loss in as many outings for Kansas City.

NFL considering change in policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A continuing decrease in National Football League season ticket sales could prompt a change in the current television policy, says Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Rozelle told the House communications subcommittee that the NFL has no current plans to change its format of televising all road games back to a club's home city.

"We may not continue with the regional format if things don't go well over the next few years," said Rozelle. "If attendance continues to go down, and if we feel it is because of the lifting of the blackout on home games, we may have to change the TV format."

Rozelle told the committee that the NFL lost $9 million in revenues, primarily from decreased season ticket sales, during the 1974 and 1975 seasons as a result of the anti-blackout law.

The committee is considering legislation introduced by Chairman Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., to prohibit permanently any league-imposed blackouts of games soundout in advance.

Prior to the law enacted in 1973, the NFL refused to permit the showing of any home games.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was to testify today before the panel.

Rozelle said the NFL football fans have been offered an increasing number of network game telecasts since it began its present contracts in 1961.

"The NFL fan now can see an average of about 74 professional football games on television each season," he said, adding that the anti-blackout laws introduced new risks of local team over-saturation.

"I don't hesitate to attribute a significant portion of the declining attendance at NFL preseason games to the steady diet of home-team telecasts in many NFL cities."

Rozelle said prior to 1974, season ticket sales by NFL clubs had shown a steady annual increase. "In fact, the trend toward wholly sold-out stadium" was relied upon by proponents of the bill as evidence that the league should not be concerned with the law.

"The number of season ticket sales decreased for the first time in NFL history in the 1974 season," he said.

All signs point to the new Volkswagens.

Our dual diagonal braking system gives you the protection of a back-up circuit.

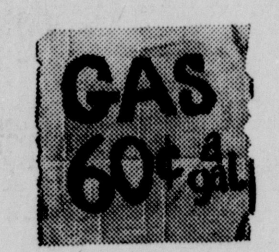

VW's front-wheel drive pulls you around curves instead of pushing. Tracking stability is excellent.

Don't worry about acceleration. The Rabbit does 0 to 50 in 8.2 seconds, Scirocco in 7.5 and Dasher in 8.0.

The new VWs have suspension systems with a coil spring at each wheel so you can take bumps in stride.

Rabbit and Scirocco both get 39 mpg —hwy/25 city. Dasher got 37 mpg —hwy/24 city. These figures are based on EPA estimates using cars with standard transmissions.

Like many racing cars, new VWs have rack-and-pinion steering for precise control.

The actual mileage you get may vary, depending on your type of driving, your driving habits, your car's condition and optional equipment.

Rabbit has everything you need to help you cope with rough roads and hard times—performance, economy and superior handling.

Plus a lot more. The Rabbit has as much head and leg room as some mid-size cars.

More trunk space (with the rear seat folded down) than the 8 leading economy cars, according to Road & Track Magazine's '75 Comparison Road Test. And a hatchback at no extra charge.

No wonder Rabbits are multiplying.

Dasher is available as a 5-seater family sedan or as a wagon. And even though it's big and comfortable inside it's able to deliver incredible performance.

Its handling is "outstanding" according to Guide to Car Economy. And few sedans can touch the Dasher's right-listed way with a gallon of gas.

Scirocco is a true 2 + 2 Sports Coupe with a powerful 1.5-liter overhead cam engine.

And styling created by Giugiaro, the man who designed the Maserati. Not only is it exciting to look at, the sleek wedge styling cuts wind resistance and improves forward visibility.

Inside, you'll find the same combination of style and function.

The trim is elegantly smart.

The hatchback (at no extra charge) is just plain smart.

Ann Landers

Guidelines for the perfect house-guest

Dear Ann Landers: Can you give some general guidelines for being a good house-guest? So many people abuse the privilege.

A few words from you would mean a lot to thousands of harried hosts and hostesses. Thanks a lot, Ann. — Pooped In Peoria Dear P.: Rule Number One: Don't assume you are welcome unless you've been invited — no matter how close you feel to the host and hostess — relatives included.

Two: If you are invited for a week, stay five days. If you are invited for two weeks, stay ten days. In other words, shorten your visit so they'll wish you had stayed longer rather than rejoice at the sight of your leaving.

Three: Pitch in and help with the housework and cooking if your visit is needed and wanted. If not, stay out of the way. Don't take over. (Of course you always leave the bathroom clean. This means tub or shower stall, wash basin, etc.)

Four: If you are eating at home mostly, buy some choice steaks and fancy fruit as a surprise. And treat the host and hostess to at least one meal in a restaurant.

Five: Spend some time elsewhere, even if it means going to a movie or taking a five-mile hike. Every host and hostess needs a few hours or an evening of "freedom" to relax by themselves.

Six: Either bring a gift when you arrive, or send one when you get home. It needn't be lavish, but it should say "thank you for the hospitality."

Dear Ann Landers: Well, here I am feeling great and very much alive.

I read a while back in your column about a guy who quit dope. He said he had flashbacks, feelings of being stoned unexpectedly even though he'd been off the junk for three months. Well, I laughed till I was sick and ached all over. The next day when I thought about it it scared the living daylight out of me. That's when I decided to quit dope for good.

I only wish for one thing now — that my brother would get off speed. I pray he will wise up and return to the world I found is still beautiful. I could kick myself for wasting two of my sixteen years to discover how lousy and phony the drug scene really is. I will always be grateful to you for placing that column where I could read it. It's a great world and I'm glad I'm a part of it once again. Just sign me — Thank God I Read Ann Landers!

Dear Friend: A letter like yours makes my day. Thank you for letting me know.

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe this will sound like chicken feed compared to the serious problems that cross your desk daily but it's been bugging me a lot lately and I'd like your opinion.

Why would a bright, successful professional man who is well respected in the community show up with obviously dyed brown hair when for the last 20 years his hair has been a beautiful steel-gray? Does he think people don't remember what he looked like?

I (and several others) were shocked to see this sight. Of course it made him look older, not younger because now all his wrinkles stand out. Why? Why? Why? — Baffled In Birmingham

Dear B. In B.: Maybe the poor fellow never read Robert Burns: "O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us: To see ourselves as others see us!"

Doctors get rich treating the poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, in a policy reversal, is making public for the first time the names of doctors who strike it rich by treating welfare patients.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare disclosed Thursday that 207 doctors in 16 states and the District of Columbia each earned more than $100,000 from Medicaid last year. They received a total of $29.8 million in federal, state and local funds.

At the top of the list was a physician identified only as Dr. W. Triebel, practicing somewhere in New York State, who was paid $451,156 for providing care to the poor and medically indigent at public expense.

The 207 doctors comprised about two-tenths of 1 per cent of the 99,117 physicians who charged the Medicaid program about $1.32 billion in 1974, an average of $13,320 each.

In response to a Freedom of Information request from the New York Daily News, HEW released the names and addresses of 13 New Jersey doctors who each earned more than $100,000 from Medicaid and said similar information will be available for other states in about two weeks.

California had 59 doctors on the list, New York 53 and Michigan 18.

Trailing Dr. Triebel, a California physician earned $348,387 from Medicaid last year, another physician in Washington, D.C., billed the government for $309,468 and at least one physician pulled in more than $200,000 each in New Jersey, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Texas.

The HEW records are not complete because Massachusetts and Illinois do not have record systems which enable the identification of Medicaid doctors in the over-$100,000 category, the department said.

They said the names were pulled from "raw data" and that a single doctor's bill might represent services rendered by a number of physicians in group practice.

Shake-down continues for new TV show

HOLLYWOOD — "It's been a bad day," said David Soul, "so they're giving us the afternoon off. We've been working too hard and we need it."

By "we," he means he and his partner, Paul Michael Glaser, who together make up the new crime-fighting team, Starsky and Hutch, on ABC's Wednesday night show.

Like all new shows, Starsky and Hutch is having problems shaking down into the form everybody will be happy with. At the moment, David Soul is not truly content. He doesn't think Ken Hutchinson, which is Hutch's full name, is a well-rounded human being.

"I'm very concerned," Soul says, "about making Hutch a human being. So far, we're just another action show."

Soul says that "they" (presumably, the network and the producers) have promised him there will be changes.

"They have promised us," he says, "that, after the seventh show they'll let us do more about Starsky and Hutch as people. This is the sixth show we're doing now. I can't wait until that eighth show to see what happens."

He's ready. He knows Hutch intimately. To prepare for the day when Hutch will emerge as a human being, he's written a 12-page biography of his character. It starts with a full background on the man's family, his early years, then goes on to tell of his marriage (it failed), his child, how he became a cop.

He has given everybody copies — producers, writers, everybody. So far, none of the material has shown up in the scripts, but he has high hopes.

Soul has even written an 11-page description of the apartment Hutch lives in. When a script called for scenes in Hutch's apartment, one was built — but it was unlike the one Soul had outlined.

"I asked them to change it," Soul says. "They told me it would cost $15,000 to change and they wouldn't do it. But I still hope, if the show is a success, that they will come around and rebuild the apartment."

Soul started out his show business career as a singer and he slips songs into the show whenever he can. Before the lunch break, he recorded a song. He says there was a "dull spot" at the end of one episode and he suggested that Hutch sing a song at that point, and they went for it.

Soul is a Midwesterner, the son of a minister-history professor. The family name was Solberg. David's father spent five years in Germany — and so did the whole family — where he was helping refugees flee from Eastern Europe.

"He was able to go freely from the Western to the Eastern zones," David says. "And he was put on a few blacklists for his trouble."

David started out studying political science but left the University of Minnesota to go to New York. He got a job singing on Merv Griffin's show and, from that, was spotted by a Columbia Pictures talent scout. He was brought here and immediately went into the series, Here Come the Brides.

He still likes singing, but he likes acting, too. And he likes Hutch — but hopes he has a chance to make him something more than just half of an action team.

David Soul

It got by

Where can I write Alan Alda and also the girl who played Andrea in Alda's series, We'll Get By? — Tracy Sorelle, Austin, Tex.

Alda, who created We'll Get By and wrote several of the scripts, is back at work at M-A-S-H which is filmed a 20th Century-Fox, 10100 Pico Blvd., West Los Angeles, Calif. 90213. That's the address to write Devon Scott, who played Andrea. She is the daughter of actor George C. Scott.

Problems

I'm having problems at home. Everybody says that Eva Gabor and Zsa Zsa Gabor are sisters. I say they are the same girl. I've got $100 riding on the answer and waiting on the winner hand and foot. — Douglas Banks, Chicago, Ill.

You've got a lot of work and a loss of money ahead of you. Eva and Zsa Zsa are definitely two people and sisters. There is also a third sister, Magda, who is quieter than the others. There is mother, Jolie, also.

Lost in Space premiered on CBS-TV in 1965.

I am trying to find something out. When the girls on the commercials are in showers, are they nude or do they wear swimsuits or something? — T.M., AUSTIN, Tex.

Commercials are not about to offend anybody, so they will only give the impression of nudity. Figure the girls are wearing flesh-colored body stockings.

Copping a plea

Please tell me if the two main characters in Starsky and Hutch, the new TV series, are the same two characters in the movie, "Super Cops". — Sharon Bitner, Newville, Pa.

No, they bear a resemblance only in that they are all cops.

Relative question

Please tell me if Connie Van Dyke and Dick Van Dyke are related? — K.W., Chicago, Ill.

Connie and Dick are not related.

A dog's life

Is the dog who was on Petticoat Junction the same dog that played Benjie in the movie? What's his real name? — A.B., Chicago, Ill.

Yes, it's the same endearing dog. His real name is Higgins, and he's now 12. He was rescued while still a pup from the dog pound by his owner and trainer Frank Inn.

Not quite

Is Valerie Harper, in real life, married to her TV husband? — Teri Yorts, Church Falls, Ind.

No, Valerie is not married to David Groh, who plays Joe. She is married to Richard Schaal who played Joe's best friend, the one she didn't like, in a couple of segments of Rhoda last season. Schaal will be a regular on Cloris Leachman's series, Phyllis, next season.

Slippery question

I would like to know where I could send a letter to Ron Ely? Has he ever had a series? How does he pronounce his last name? — Geanny Ford, Lubbock, Tex.

Ron is starring in "Doc Savage, Man of Bronze," a George Pal production out of The Burbank Studios, Burbank, Calif. 91505, which is where you can write him.

Ron played Tarzan on TV, although the series was not a hit and did not have a long run. He pronounces his name EE-lee.

All grown up

How old is Annette Funicello? Is she married? Where could I write her? — L.S., Harrisburg, Pa.

Annette is 33, married to agent Jack Gilardi, and a proud mother. Write her in care of Disney, 500 S. Buena Vista, Burbank, Calif. 91521.

Funny lady

I am curious to know whether or not Elizabeth Montgomery plays both Samantha and Serena on the Bewitched reruns. In the credits it shows that Pandora Spock plays Serena. — Holly Ellison, McDade, Tex.

Elizabeth does play both roles. Pandora Spock is a made-up name which perfectly illustrates Elizabeth's wonderfully wacky sense of humor. She is a very funny, sly lady.

Bite, Joe, bite

How did Joe bite his trainer on Run, Joe, Run? Thank you. — J.P., Blue Island, Ill.

With his teeth. It was established, in the first segment of the children's series, that Joe is an attack dog who had been in military service. An attack situation arises and in the excitement, the dog bites his trainer. That is why he becomes a fugitive. His trainer pursues him because he is aware of the circumstances and wants to save the dog.

Equal time

You're always answering questions about Cher. I think it's about time to hear about Sonny. So please, how old is he? What is he doing now?

Does he plan to have a TV show this fall? — Josie Smith, Norfolk, Va.

Sonny is 40 and he is presently playing a guest star role in a segment of The Six Million Dollar Man. He plays a night club entertainer who is an old friend of Steve Austin's (Lee Majors). He has no immediate series plans, but don't count him out for the future.

Dan-O-

Can you tell me something about James MacArthur of Hawaii Five-O? Is he married? His birth date, where I can write him. — A Curious Fan, Ravenna, Ohio.

MacArthur, who is the son of Helen Hayes and playwright Charles MacArthur, is married to Melody Patterson. He has two children, Charles and Mary, by a previous marriage to actress Joyce Bulifant. James was born December 8 some 30-odd years ago. Write him in care of the program, Honolulu, Hawaii, 96816.

Coming with the wind

I know you've answered this question before, but please, to settle a bet, has "Gone With the Wind" ever been on TV? This fellow says it was on last winter, the original one, and that another version was made with Elizabeth Taylor. — Steve Maruk, International Falls, Minn.

There has only been one, the only and original, "Gone With the Wind," with Vivian Leigh, Clark Gable, Leslie Howard and Olivia De Havilland and it has never been telecast. However, it will be on NBC-TV next season and that's an event worth the wait.

TV scout reports

Bob Mackie, who designs Cher's clothes, has just signed for a bigger job — he'll whip up Totie Fields' duds now.

Charlie Callas, who plays Robert Wagner's buddy on CBS' new Switch! show, is a big astronomy buff. He has an expensive telescope and he even takes it with him when he goes to Las Vegas for an engagement. He buys a first-class ticket so the telescope has its own seat next to him on the plane.

Callas still lives in Fort Lee, N.J., but if the show is a hit, he probably will move to Los Angeles. And then, he says, he wants to build an observatory into his house, complete with a 15-foot dome on the roof.

John Elerick, who played Investigator Ed Hughes in NBC-TV's mini-series McNaughton's Daughter, was performing in a UCLA drama department student production called "Animals," when Universal casting director Joe Reich discovered him.

A young man named Andy Stevens is in "The Oregon Trail," a Universal-NBC-TV development project starring Rod Taylor. Andy is the son of actress Stella Stevens.

Producer Jon Epstein (McMillan Wife) and "Rich Man, Poor Man," a six-part, 12-hour movie for TV, held his annual party and, as usual, it was a splendid affair.

Jon doesn't like giving parties, preferring quiet evenings at home. Seeing his home, who can blame him? So once a year he has a huge party and says he takes care of his social duties for the year.

There was some high-priced talent entertainment. Steve Allen played the piano. Later Roger Perry noodled the keys while wife JoAnne Worley sang. There are reports she registered on Cal Tech's seismograph.

Among the guests were lots of Universal producers, plus Rock Hudson (talking about how he has fallen for Dobermans since making a movie with some), Nancy Walker and her super husband, David Craig, George Maharis, Nancy Malone, Jackie Cooper, Arthur Hill and his lovely wife Peggy, Joan Darling and her writer husband, Bill Svanoe, Dick Haymes, who stood around the piano but didn't sing. Susan Blakeley, and so on.

No one dove in the swimming pool, although Jon recalls one party when a Hollywood columnist (not one present) went in with all her clothes on and had a grand time swimming around.

Robert Reed is certainly changing the wholesome image that began with his role in The Defenders and continued with his All-American father on The Brady Bunch. Since then he has played an obscene telephone caller on A Movie of the Week, a transsexual on Medical Center and now, on McCloud, he is playing a man who hires an arsonist to burn down the building he owns.

Rodney Dangerfield says, "I took out one girl because she was a good kid. I stopped taking her out because she was a good kid."
